

Malala

Let's see what you remember about MALALA...

1. She was born in
2. Her was a teacher so she grew up with a strong belief in the power and importance of education.
3. In 2007, a group called the began to take control over the area where Malala and her family lived.
4. Malala spoke out, shared her fears with the world, and reported what was happening in her local area.
5. When she was, she was shot in the head by a masked Taliban gunman.
6. In 2013, she published a, "I am Malala", describing her experiences.
7. Malala has an organization that campaigns for all girls to have 12 years of education. Her tireless campaigning work was recognized in 2014 when she won the She was 17. She donated the prize money to build a secondary school for girls in Pakistan.

